MAIN

COOPERATING LIBRARIES

References

The symbols L, L*, P, and M following the name of a library refer to the library's facilities for lending serials and for furnishing photocopies and microfilms.

L = The library lends serials.

L*= The library restricts its lending of serials. Applications should be made in each case.

P = The library furnishes photocopies.

M = The library furnishes microfilms.

See: Direct requests for service of titles under this library location symbol to new library location symbol. Collections have either been absorbed, merged, (and/or) are now serviced by see library.

See also: Two symbols are used for titles under this library location symbol. Consult see also library location symbol for complete list of holdings of titles in this library.

EXPLANATIONS

A. SPECIAL CHARACTERISTICS OF THE THIRD EDITION.

1. Changes in entry and holding information. Since entries in the second edition and the two supplements were not reissued in a checking edition, these entries stand in the third edition without change except in those instances where reports of bibliographical changes in titles were investigated and additional locations supplied. Entries and holdings were not updated otherwise. Additional locations were added within the limitations on holdings indicated by the policy decision of the Joint Committee. Numbers following a library symbol, therefore, show its holdings as of the second edition, the first or second supplement, or in the case of new titles, as of November 1, 1960.

2. Filing and orthographical changes. The filing arrangement of entries follows that of the second edition except in a few cases involving the arrangement of subordinate units of names or corporate bodies where minor variations in spelling have resulted from later changes in orthography and/or transliteration systems. These latter have been ignored and the new entries interfiled with the old. For example, institutes of the Akademiĉa nauk U.R.S.R., Kiev formerly transliterated as Institut, but now Instytut, are interfiled. Similarly commissions—formerly Komisya (now Komisja)—are interfiled when they occur as subdivisions under a larger body such as under Polska akademia umiejętności. Krakow.

3. Ligatures. Ligatures have been omitted from new entries in the Cyrillic alphabet.

4. Capitalization. Capitalization of entries in the second edition and in its supplements followed varying practices and these variations have been retained in the third edition. New entries follow the practice of the second edition.

5. Corporate names. In new or revised entries for corporate names, the names of subordinate divisions are entered directly under the corporate body with intervening administrative units omitted except when required for identification.

6. Cross references. Where a bibliographical change was made in either of the supplements a new reference was made from the immediately preceding entry only. References made from any earlier variation of the entry were not revised for the supplements. These references remain unrevised in the third edition unless a new change in the entry was reported. In the latter case all cross references were completely revised.

7. Spacing. The aperture expansion of the camera lens for "abstracting" purposes can vary from a minimum space of a single line to a maximum space of three and one quarter inches with a blank space appearing after each exposure. Consequently, blank spaces will appear under varying circumstances involving the same entry, the parts of which have been "abstracted" from different columns and camera interfiled into a single arrangement.

Blank spaces which occur in the bibliographical part of an entry when more than one exposure of the camera has been required for its assembly do not indicate omission of information. This assembly of a single entry from two or more sources sometimes leads to the variance indicated in Order of Notes (below).

8. Order of notes. The construction of new entries by "abstracting" the bibliographical parts from entries in the second edition and the two supplements has resulted in some instances in non-uniform sequence of bibliographical notes and terms.

9. Order of holdings. The order of holdings in the third edition is (1) symbols and holdings from the second edition; (2) symbols and holdings from first supplement; (3) symbols and holdings from second supplement; (4) symbols and holdings representing new and additional locations. Holdings are therefore not given in a single alphabetical symbol sequence as in the second edition. A blank space separates each new arrangement usually in the order above. But it should be noted that in entries involving a long list of holdings, this blank space indicates that more than one camera exposure was required.

Exceptions to this arrangement occur when symbols and holdings from one or both of the supplements or new locations were not too numerous and were transferred in manuscript to the listing in the second edition; and vice versa in the transferring of holdings in the second edition to a corrected form of entry appearing in one of the supplements.

10. Deletions of holdings. Deletions of library holdings have been erased or lined out in all cases reported. It should be noted therefore that a blank space in a list of holdings indicates that a deletion has been made.

11. Asterisk () after a library symbol. An asterisk () after a library symbol indicates that the holding was taken from the entry record for the title in the National Union Catalog and no effort was made to determine the extent of the library's holdings for the title.

12. Obsolete symbols. The following symbols used in the first and second supplements were not deleted for technical and other reasons.

- • preceding a title in the first supplement to indicate that it was new to the second edition
- ‡ change of title
- Ⓜ main volume
- ① first supplement
- ▲ holdings are not to be recorded

B. GENERAL CHARACTERISTICS OF THE SECOND EDITION CONTINUED IN THE THIRD EDITION.

1. A serial not published by a society or a public office is entered under the first word, not an article, of the title.

2. A serial published by a society, but having a distinctive title, is entered under the title with reference from the name of the society.

3. Learned societies and academies of Europe, other than English, with names beginning with an adjective denoting royal privilege are entered under the first word following the adjective. These adjectives, Kaiserlich, Königlich, Reale, Imperiale, etc., are abbreviated to K., R., I., etc., and are disregarded in the arrangement.

4. Colleges and universities having a geographical designation are entered under the name of the city, state or country contained in the title.

EXPLANATIONS—Continued

5. Observatories, botanical and zoological gardens, etc., not having a distinctive name, are entered under the name of the place in which they are located, unless affiliated with a university, in which case they are entered under the name of the university.

6. References have been made from earlier forms of a title and/or name of issuing body to latest form known, and in general whenever a reference might facilitate the use of the list. (N.B. See Note 6, Cross References in A above.)

7. Volume numbers and dates are inclusive in all cases and the dates are for the period covered by the serial, not those of publication.

8. A library's symbol is made up of a combination of letters for state, city and library. A symbol alone indicates the library holds the complete set.

9. A hyphen (-) between volume numbers or dates signifies "from and including the former to and including the latter."

10. A plus sign (+) indicates that the serial is currently received and that the set is complete from the last date or volume number given.

11. Parallels (||) indicate that publication ceased with the preceding date or volume.

12. Brackets ([]) indicate that the volumes or years so enclosed are not complete.

PREFACE

The history of the Union List of Serials covers half a century from its beginnings before World War I to the publication of this third edition. In describing the first edition, which appeared in 1927, one librarian wrote that it seemed obvious to him that such a list ought to have been compiled early in American library history. The first edition was, as a matter of fact, preceded by a number of lists, both in this country and abroad, of more limited coverage. In a bibliography of union lists of serials by Daniel C. Haskell, appended to the first edition, the earliest entry is for a list, published in 1859, of serials in the libraries of Milan. The earliest list for the United States covers the titles in eight Baltimore libraries in 1876. The first list covering an extended territory is an enumeration of periodicals in Belgian libraries, with a record of holdings, published in 1881. Bolton's Catalogue of Scientific and Technical Periodicals (Washington, 1885) shows the extent of files of 5,100 periodicals in 125 libraries, but does not give exact statements of holdings.

The Chicago Library Club's list of serials in Chicago libraries seems to have been the first American attempt at an extensive list of holdings of serial sets. It was issued in 1901 and was expanded in 1906 by the John Crerar Library to cover 12,000 serial titles located in Chicago and its immediate vicinity. In the years preceding World War I a number of other local lists were published which cover the holdings of the libraries of individual cities and universities.

In 1913 the American Library Association appointed a Committee on a Union List of Serials. This action was in response to a letter from E. C. Richardson, then librarian of Princeton University, in which he advocated the preparation of a union list of periodicals in the principal libraries of the United States and Canada and asked whether the A.L.A. would assist in such a project.

In 1915 the University of Nebraska prepared a list of the serials in its various libraries. This list was extended in 1916 to include thirteen libraries in other cities of Nebraska, and the H. W. Wilson Company was invited to estimate the cost of printing the list in an edition of 500 copies. At the midwinter meeting of A.L.A. that year the librarians of the universities of Illinois, Minnesota, and Wisconsin suggested that the list be expanded to include their collections. Clement W. Andrews, librarian of the John Crerar Library and chairman of the Committee on a Union List of Serials, urged the inclusion of all the principal libraries of the North-Central region and accepted the chairmanship of a working group which made some progress toward editing the material that was gathered.

World War I interrupted the progress of the venture; but when the problem was attacked anew after the war, it had become obvious to all concerned that a single national list would be infinitely more useful than numerous regional lists. At the midwinter meeting of the A.L.A. in December 1921, H. W. Wilson presented a plan for a national list which had been carefully worked out in conformity with the opinions and preferences expressed by more than forty large libraries in their replies to a questionnaire. These libraries had also checked an experimental four-page sample of a proposed checking edition. The plan was accepted; and, at H. W. Wilson's request, the meeting approved the appointment of a committee to act with the Wilson Company in working out a practicable plan of publication and to serve in an advisory capacity during the course of publication. In the following year the original exploratory committee was discharged, at its request, and a new Advisory Committee on the Union List of Serials was appointed, under the chairmanship of H. M. Lydenberg of the New York Public Library. The scope of the project was expanded to include Canadian libraries, and the proposed publication was entitled Union List of Serials in Libraries of the United States and Canada.

The new committee decided to finance the project through advance subscriptions. The plan called for forty libraries or groups of libraries to pledge $300 each for a total of three years in order to provide the estimated cost of $36,000 for editing and printing. In return for a subscription, each institution was to receive eighteen copies of the completed list valued at $50 each. A circular was sent out in December 1922, and by the end of 1923 forty-one libraries had pledged their support. In addition to the funds secured from subscriptions, the sum of $10,000 was obtained in 1923 through a public-spirited grant from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial, which provided for the expense of checking holdings in U.S. Government libraries. With these funds in hand, an editorial office was established at the H. W. Wilson Company in New York. Winifred Gregory was appointed editor, and the work began.

The basic list was compiled on cards; and it incorporated entries found in the catalogs of the Library of Congress and the New York Public Library, in previous union lists, in specialized subject lists, and in bibliographies of periodicals. The original estimate of costs had been based on the expectation that the list would contain approximately 40,000 entries. As the work progressed, it became obvious that nearly double the number of entries originally estimated would have to be included, and it was found necessary to increase the price of each copy from $50 to $75 and to ask the forty-one libraries to purchase additional copies, if possible. Financial limitations also made it necessary to exclude certain groups of materials. Among these were government publications, annuals, administrative reports, almanacs, American newspapers, English and other foreign newspapers published after 1820, law reports and digests, and publications of experiment stations, of local and state religious, labor, and fraternal organizations, of boards of trade, and of chambers of commerce, as well as house organs and publications of alumni, undergraduate, and intercollegiate fraternal organizations.

It had been determined that a preliminary or checking edition would be issued, made up of titles which it was reasonably certain would be found in American libraries. This checking edition was issued in twenty parts between March 1924 and December 1926. The parts were sent to cooperating libraries with the request that they be returned to the editor at specified intervals, with records of holdings for the titles listed and for any titles that had been omitted. From the reports thus submitted, there was issued between December 1924 and September 1926 a series of eleven provisional sections. These sections were revised by the cooperating libraries, and from them the editorial staff compiled the list. It was hoped in the beginning that the entire project could be completed in three years, but an additional year was required. The Union List was published in 1927—an imposing volume of 1,580 pages containing entries for 75,000 serial titles and locating holdings in 225 libraries. It was rightly hailed as the most notable bibliography ever sponsored by American libraries, as an amazing accomplishment, and as a forward step comparable in importance to the decision to distribute Library of Congress printed cards.

But, as is inevitable with any massive compilation of its kind, the Union List of Serials was out of date before it was published. The Union List did not include any serials which began publication after 1924, nor did it note changes of titles occurring after that date. The need for a supplement was soon apparent, and during the summer of 1929 the Advisory Committee laid the groundwork for one. Fortunately, the first edition was a financial success: by the middle of 1930 a surplus of $10,000 had been accumulated. When offered either a cash refund or a supplementary volume, all the forty-one original subscribers chose the latter.

Ultimately, two supplements to the first edition were published, both under the editorship of Gabrielle E. Malikoff. The first supplement covered the period January 1925-June 1931, contained 660 pages, and appeared in 1931. The second supplement, for the period July 1931-December 1932, contained 331 pages and was published in 1933. The device of a preliminary or checking edition was again employed in compiling the supplements; but the majority of cooperating libraries submitted changes and additions on cards or slips. The number of locations was somewhat increased, and Georgia, Hawaii, Kentucky, South Carolina, and Utah were represented for the first time.

After some discussion as to the advisability of a further, cumulative supplement, H. W. Wilson proposed to the A.L.A. in November 1936 that a second edition be prepared to revise and correct earlier entries, to add new titles, to include several categories omitted from the first edition, to bring holdings up to date, and to record the resources of libraries not previously represented. He also suggested the appointment of a new advisory committee to consider the preparation and publication of the second edition. Mr. Wilson's proposals were accepted; and the Executive Board of the A.L.A. appointed, in April 1937, a committee which served from that date until 1948 under the successive chairmanships of James Thayer Gerould, Donald B. Gilchrist, Wyllis E. Wright, and Helmer L. Webb.

In the midst of the depression there seemed little hope that the second edition could be financed, as had been the first, by a group of subscribing libraries. An appeal was therefore directed by the committee to the Rockefeller Foundation, which generously granted the sum of $46,100 toward the editorial expenses of preparing the new list. The editorship was again placed in the capable hands of Winifred Gregory; and an editorial office was established in the Library of Congress, because of the concentration of bibliographical information there and because the Library of Congress had kept a record of changes in its serial holdings.

The second edition of the Union List of Serials followed closely the pattern of the first. A preliminary or checking edition was compiled from the revised and corrected entries in the first edition and its supplements, together with titles submitted by libraries which had kept a record of their serial accessions since the publication of the second supplement. This preliminary edition, listing approximately 106,000 titles, was issued in nine parts between May 1939 and October 1940. It was checked and returned by the cooperating libraries, together with reports of an additional 28,000 titles, of which 9,000 were included in the second edition. The closing date for new titles was December 31, 1940. Exhaustion of the Rockefeller Foundation subvention made it impossible to issue a supplementary checking edition.

The scope of the list remained largely unchanged, but to the categories included in the first edition there were added annual publications recording or summarizing the progress of research in various fields, as well as numbered monographic series, children's magazines, and certain "pulp" magazines. The number of libraries represented was greatly enlarged, with particular attention to libraries in the South and in the Mountain states, both of which areas had been inadequately represented in the first edition.

The second edition was published in 1943 in a volume of 3,065 pages containing entries for 115,000 titles and locating holdings in 650 libraries. Like its predecessor, it was acclaimed as the most important and comprehensive of union lists and as indispensable in any American library doing reference work with periodicals.

Before the volume was off the press, work had started on a supplement covering the period from January 1941 to December 1943. It was planned as the first of a series of supplements which would preserve the usefulness of the main volume and provide for speedier publication of information on new titles and important changes in holdings. A checking edition was issued in May 1944. The supplement itself, edited by Gabrielle E. Malikoff and containing 1,123 pages, was published in 1945. This supplement included, in addition to the categories covered in earlier issuances of the Union List, a number of government serials, titles from the New York Public Library's collection of dime novels, and a group of German almanac titles in the Harvard University Library. Holdings were brought up to date, and fifteen libraries were represented for the first time.

Plans were then made for the preparation of a second supplement to the second edition, which would cover the period 1944-1947. But conditions created by World War II interfered, and the first part of the checking edition did not appear until the middle of 1949. In the meantime, as a result of the Conference on International Cultural, Educational and Scientific Exchanges held at Princeton in 1946, a Joint Committee, which eventually came to represent thirteen library associations and other organizations, was appointed, under the chairmanship of Wyllis E. Wright, to plan for the future of the Union List of Serials. In 1948 it took over from the A.L.A. Advisory Committee the supervision of the second supplement, which, consisting largely of new titles and covering the period January 1944-December 1949, was published in 1,365 pages, in 1953, under the editorship of Marga Franck. The preface announced that, because of altered circumstances, this was the last supplement which would be issued.

The major factor in the circumstances referred to was the initiation by the Library of Congress in 1951 of Serial Titles Newly Received. At first confined to the acquisitions of the Library of Congress, this monthly publication had begun the listing of all serials which commenced publication on or after January 1, 1950. In 1953, with the support and cooperation of the Joint Committee on the Union List of Serials, it was expanded to include the acquisitions of other libraries and was renamed New Serial Titles; thus it became, in effect, a current supplement to the Union List of Serials. This change in scope was discussed with and approved by the H. W. Wilson Company, which stated that it planned no further editions of its own.

It had also been proposed that there be established in the Library of Congress a permanent and self-sustaining union list or union catalog of serials on punched cards. In 1956 the Rockefeller Foundation made a grant of $6,000 to the Joint Committee to support a study of this proposal. Wyllis E. Wright, who had in 1954 been succeeded as chairman of the Joint Committee by Andrew D. Osborn, conducted the study. A comprehensive report, with detailed recommendations, was issued in 1957 under the title A Permanent Program for the Union List of Serials. Unfortunately, financing the project on the scale required proved to be impossible.

In 1957 the Joint Committee on the Union List of Serials was incorporated as a non-profit organization, and in 1958 Frank B. Rogers became its chairman. It was then decided to explore the possibility of publishing a third edition. A plan was drawn up for reprinting in one alphabet without general revision the entries in the second edition and its supplements, making major additions and changes in holdings of titles as reported by cooperating libraries, adding a selected number of new titles which began publication before January 1, 1950, and which were within the scope of the second edition, and issuing a checking edition consisting of only the selected new titles. The Council on Library Resources, Inc., was approached, and it was proposed that operational and administrative responsibility for a third edition of the Union List of Serials be assumed by the Library of Congress, with the Joint Committee retaining its role of policy guidance. The Librarian of Congress, L. Quincy Mumford, signified the Library's willingness to undertake this task; and, in 1959, the Council made available the sum of $244,651 for the execution of the project. In announcing the grant, Verner W. Clapp, President of the Council on Library Resources, Inc., expressed the hope that, as the work progressed, improved techniques would become available and would be utilized.

Work began in September 1959 with the establishment of an editorial office in the Library of Congress and with the appointment of Edna Brown Titus as editor. The preparation of the checking edition involved withdrawing, examining, and searching all the serial entries in the National Union Catalog, except serial entries under official headings. Entries were also selected from the Southeastern Supplement to the Union List of Serials, Serial Titles Newly Received, from reports of pre-1950 imprints previously sent to New Serial Titles, and from reports made directly to the editorial office. The checking edition was distributed in four parts between June 1960 and April 1961; the final part was checked and returned in July 1961. This phase of the project added 11,846 new titles to the third edition. The making of bibliographical changes was completed in November 1961.

After investigating several alternative methods of final copy preparation, the Committee decided in July 1961 to take advantage of the new "abstracting" method of photographic reproduction developed by the British firm of Balding & Mansell. This method had been successfully employed in the publication of the British Museum's General Catalogue of Printed Books. Its use, it is estimated, saved $100,000 in editorial preparatory costs, an expense which would otherwise have had to be borne by the libraries purchasing the third edition. Following this decision, preparation of copy for the printer began in October 1961. In 1961, also, the Joint Committee asked the H. W. Wilson Company (which had published the first and second editions) to undertake publication and distribution of the third edition on its behalf; specifying manufacture by Balding & Mansell for the reasons mentioned.

The need to incorporate entries for new serials in Far Eastern languages was given serious consideration and study. Mr. Raymond Nunn, representing the Committee on Library Resources of the Association for Asian Studies, was present at the June 25, 1959 meeting of the Committee and reported fully on the research needs for their control, and also on the current status of processing control of serial entries in these languages in American libraries. He estimated that about 13,000 titles would be involved. It was recognized that the adding of these titles would require substantial additional funds for the purpose. To this end, Mr. Nunn reported that his Association was now attempting to secure foundation or government support. The Committee was fully agreed on the importance of the addition of these titles to the third edition and was willing to accept funds for the purpose. It was with regret that Dr. Rogers reported at the January 27, 1960 meeting of the Committee that new entries for Far Eastern serials would not be included in the third edition. This decision was only reached after a thorough study of all the problems involved. In the main, the principal reason for the decision was the current lack of adequate cataloging control of such titles in American libraries. This lack of adequate control would require recataloging of most of the titles before incorporation in the Union List of Serials. In any event, it had also proved impossible to secure the necessary funds for the project. Dr. Rogers reported that a small sum of money had been secured by the Library of Congress to provide for the filming of presently cataloged serial entries in libraries having Oriental collections. From these records, it was planned to organize a union card catalog of Far Eastern serials. Another objective would be to prepare a realistic estimate of the cost in order to secure necessary funds for the compilation and publication of a separate union list for Far Eastern serials at a later date.

In preparing copy, the editor and her staff worked with large 20″ x 29″ boards. The 8,091 boards were kept on 675 custom-made sliding trays, 12 boards to each tray. The trays and the cabinets to hold them were so designed as to permit easy access to all the boards at any time. Each board was divided into columns. In column 1 was mounted a column cut from the second edition and in columns 2 and 3, columns from the first and second supplements. Columns 4, 5, and 6 were used for new titles, bibliographical changes, and new cross references which fell within the alphabetical span of column 1. Columns 7 and 8 were used for transferred locations and holdings, additional locations, and other miscellaneous changes.

With the completion of the mounting process, it was necessary to number each entry in such a way that the camera operator could proceed from numbered entry to numbered entry, in order that the camera might pick up titles in their alphabetical sequence and holdings under the correct titles. All this involved a tremendous amount of detail. Limitations under which the editor worked were many: sequential numbers had to be added on the right-hand side of the entry and between 2 9/16″ and 2 5/16″ from the first bold letter of the entry; entries in an alphabetical span up to 3¼″ in length were assigned a single number and bracketed together, 3¼″ being the maximum vertical span of the camera lens. Many bibliographical problems arose as entries were combined in a single file, but these and other problems were successfully solved.

By June 1, 1963, the editorial work had been completed; the finished copy was then sent to London in nine large trunks as personal baggage of the editor—who remained in London long enough to proofread galleys for this, the third edition.

Acknowledgments. The Joint Committee on the Union List of Serials wishes to express its appreciation to the organizations and persons who have made this publication possible:

The Council on Library Resources, Inc., without whose generous assistance the task of preparing the third edition could not have been undertaken;

The Library of Congress, which administered the project and provided space for its operation;

Dr. Frank B. Rogers, who, while chairman of the Joint Committee, carried the burden of the negotiations which resulted in securing financial support for the project;

Dr. Andrew D. Osborn and Mr. Wyllis E. Wright, past chairmen of the Joint Committee, who kept the idea of a third edition of the Union List of Serials alive during a difficult period;

Mrs. Edna Brown Titus, the editor, and her staff, for intelligent and faithful attention to a multitude of details whose sum accounts for the usefulness of this list; and, finally,

The hundreds of libraries which cooperated in recording their holdings and without whose aid no Union List could have come into being.

HOWARD ROVELSTAD, Chairman
Joint Committee on the Union List of Serials

INTRODUCTION

The third edition of the Union List of Serials follows closely the pattern of the second. The demand for its preparation arose from: (1) the need to incorporate into one arrangement the titles and holdings in the second edition and its two supplements; (2) the desirability of making major additions and changes in holdings of titles in cooperating libraries; (3) the revision and correction of earlier entries; and (4) the addition of a selected number of new titles which began publication before 1950 and which were within the scope of the second edition but not included for varying reasons.

The classes of serials in general excluded from the scope of coverage of the second edition and its supplements are given below and the same criteria were followed in the selection of new titles to be added to the third edition.

Classes of Serials Generally Excluded

1. Government publications (except periodicals and monographic series issued by governments).
2. Administrative reports of societies, universities, corporations, etc.
3. Almanacs, gift books.
4. American newspapers.
5. English and other foreign newspapers published after 1820.
6. Law reports and digests.
7. Publications of agricultural and other experiment stations.
8. Publications of local, religious, labor, and fraternal organizations, boards of trade, chambers of commerce.
9. Publications of national and international conferences and congresses, etc.
10. House organs (unless of technical or scientific value).
11. Alumni and undergraduate and intercollegiate fraternity publications.
12. Trench papers.
13. All titles having a highly limited or ephemeral value.
14. United Nations publications.

Selection of new titles. New titles to be included in third edition were obtained from the following sources: (1) the National Union Catalog; (2) Serial Titles Newly Received (1950-1952); (3) Southeastern Supplement to the Union List of Serials (1959); (4) reports of pre-1950 serials previously sent to New Serial Titles (1953-); and (5) reports made directly to the editorial office by cooperating libraries.

General. The Union List of Serials Office was established at the Library of Congress as a unit of the Processing Department and became operational on August 24, 1959 with the appointment of the Editor. On August 28, the Executive Committee of the Joint Committee met with the Editor to discuss and decide on various matters of editorial policy concerning content, scope, form of entry, changes and additional locations, reporting, the checking edition, and the time schedule for completion of the work.

It was decided at this meeting that additional locations for new serial titles acquired by cooperating libraries since the second edition and supplements were to be recorded in the third edition for significant titles only—titles not commonly held. Additional locations were not to be listed whenever ten or more locations had already been listed in the second edition and supplements unless considered both desirable and necessary—e.g., geographical considerations. The purpose of this policy restriction was to avoid the need to record an excessively large number of locations for commonly held titles; and also, that in view of the methods to be used in the compilation of the third edition, it was the general view of the Committee that ten locations would be considered sufficient in most cases.

The months of September and October 1959 were taken up in the main with the recruiting of staff, the beginning of withdrawal of serial entries from the National Union Catalog (this work was completed by January 1960), and the preparation of the Prospectus, Union List of Serials, Third Edition, based on the decisions made at the meeting of the Executive Committee in August.

The Prospectus was issued in November 1959 and sent with a letter of invitation to all libraries which had participated in the second edition and the two supplements, and to libraries contributing to or subscribing to New Serial Titles—a total of 1,133. By June 30, 1960, 835 American and Canadian libraries had announced their willingness to participate in the compilation of the third edition.

During the period January 1960 through September 1961, the staff time was spent in the various editorial operations involving the review of entries taken from the National Union Catalog and those received from cooperating libraries, searching, deleting of holdings, making bibliographical changes, the selection and preparation of entries for the checking edition, and finally the consolidation of the holdings for new titles reported by cooperating libraries in the checking edition. Preparation of copy for the printer began in October 1961 with the mounting process. Final editorial adjustment of the entries for camera exposure began March 1, 1962 and this part of the work was completed by June 1, 1963.

The total number of cooperating libraries represented in the third edition amounts to 956, as compared to a total of 712 in the second edition—an increase of approximately 34%. A tabulation of the number of reporting institutions by State follows the List of Cooperating Libraries.

Summary of operations. It would be difficult to describe in detail the complex procedures involved in the preparation of the third edition. The following summary will present the principal elements of the workload involved in the review, searching, and selection of new titles, the identification of bibliographical changes, deletions, and added locations.

1. A total of appoximately 1,000,000 entries was reviewed for appropriateness for inclusion. Of this total over 352,000 were entries removed from the National Union Catalog and about 650,000 entries were received from cooperating libraries.

2. After review of these entries approximately 450,000 were processed. This involved searching the titles in the second edition and the two supplements to locate: first, new titles for inclusion in the checking edition; second, bibliographical changes; and third, added locations. Also about 25,000 symbol deletions of library holdings were made for serials no longer retained in cooperating libraries.

3. Of the 450,000 titles searched about 70,000 were found to be new to the second edition and the supplements. Another review as to their appropriateness resulted in the selection of some 13,000 titles considered desirable for inclusion in the checking edition.

4. A final review and selection from the 13,000 titles by Mr. Wyllis Wright resulted in a net of 11,892 titles edited for inclusion in the checking edition.

5. The checking edition was issued in four parts in August and September 1960 and February and April 1961. With the return of the checking edition locations and holdings were edited and tabulated, bibliographical corrections in new titles supplied by cooperating libraries were made as reported, and the final preparation of new entries was completed.

The following statistical table shows: (1) The content of the second edition and the two supplements; (2) the content of the checking edition; (3) additions and changes in the third edition; (4) the total number of entries to be adjusted; and (5) total entries in the third edition.

Acknowledgments. The editor wishes to express her appreciation to the Joint Committee for the opportunity to serve with them in the preparation of this edition of the Union List of Serials. Special thanks are due Dr. Frank B. Rogers, Mr. Howard Rovelstad, and Mr. John W. Cronin, who gave so generously of their time for consultation and advice.

It was the willing cooperation of the American and Canadian libraries in supplying reports on their serial holdings which made this compilation possible. They, too, receive our thanks.

The list of names of staff members of the Library of Congress who gave hours of assistance on an overtime basis is long. Of this group, there should be mentioned especially Mrs. Lucia Borski of the Descriptive Cataloging Division who proofread all new and revised entries in the Slavic languages and advised on Cyrillic entries; Mr. Johannes Dewton of the National Union Catalog Division who gave generously of his own time to help in the final editing; Mr. Nelson Parker and Mr. Francis Fenwick of the Catalog Maintenance Division who mounted all the entries and helped so willingly in other matters. Acknowledgment is also made to the staff of the Processing Department Office for their assistance in the many miscellaneous and administrative matters concerned with the Project.

Finally, to Mrs. Gloria Hsia of the Editorial Office who first served as Cataloging Editor and later as Assistant Editor, great appreciation is given for her sustained interest and excellent work throughout the Project.

ACADEMIA Republicii Populare Romîne, Bucharest.
Founded 1948 after the dissolution of the Academia română, Academia de ştiinţe, and Academia de medicina. The new orthographic rules of the Rumanian language which became effective on Ap 1, 1954, abolished the letter â and replaced it by î. Thus the academy's name was changed from Academia Republicii Populare Române to Academia Republicii Populare Romîne
